ALTER NICER MANN – Finding humour in modern everyday life

SHORT TEXT

When you still feel 25, but your back has other ideas: Gerald Fleischhacker takes a humorous look at growing older and modern everyday life in “ALTER NICER MANN”. On 3 December 2026, he brings his sixth solo show, with sharp observations about family, technology and relationships, to the VIP tent in Obertauern.

TEXT

One moment you are the cool guy, the next you are over 50 and life is asking entirely new questions. On 3 December 2026, Gerald Fleischhacker takes to the stage with “ALTER NICER MANN” in the VIP tent in Obertauern. In his sixth solo show, he explores the contradictions between feeling young and the body’s little reminders that time is moving on. Above all, he does not take himself too seriously.

Family chaos, technology, the internet and the pitfalls of communication provide material for his stories. With a sharp eye and plenty of self-deprecating humour, he brings situations to the stage that many will recognise. After a day in the mountains, this comedy evening offers a chance to laugh together and see everyday life from a different perspective.
